

2018 Franz Nissl Award

The International Society of Neuropathology (ISN) would like to invite you to apply for the 2018 Franz Nissl Award. This prestigious award is given to a young neuroscientist in recognition of an outstanding research contribution to neuropathology. The award will cover reasonable expenses for travel, accommodation and registration for the International Congress of Neuropathology in Tokyo in September 2018, and the successful candidate will be invited to present his/her work at the Congress.

To apply for the 2018 Franz Nissl Award:

- Candidates should be no older than 35 years on March 31st, 2018
- Candidates need to submit a) a curriculum vitae and b) a citation of higher scientific accomplishments and academic achievements. The citation should be written and must be signed by a head of department, head of section or senior scientist who is a member of the International Society of Neuropathology.
- Applications should be e-mailed to David Hilton at davidhilton@nhs.net.

The closing date is March 31st, 2018.
